Dear Don:

It was just a couple of years ago when I first heard you present. Your stories intertwining sports, life and business were most intriguing. The content, style and approach were motivating to a large and mixed audience of husbands and wives. In fact, my wife – who is really not a sports fan (balance in every family ☺), came away and said she was really impressed and shared the content with our children. She loved the stories and human insight!

After that meeting, I asked you to address a wide group of management at Presidio to help meld two organizations. Again, the content and feedback were right on. The reviews were “awesome baby,” and I personally came away inspired – once again!

The management from that meeting then opted to bring you back – their own choosing -- to address their annual kick off meeting for almost 500 people – men and woman – and the reviews were outstanding. And for the third time I came away inspired!

Don, your content, stories, linkage of sports to business and life are all terrific. From Coach Wooden to Warrick Dunn to Swen Nater to Walter “Sweetness” Payton, all inspirational.

Did I forget to mention Michael Jordan? As an organization Presidio hates to lose. That is the reason we keep bringing you back because we will never lose with you as a presenter.

We can't thank you enough for your time, lasting messages and sharing and caring.

Sincerely,

Joel A. Schleicher
